loved him, by the means some of the wives it your paper suggest. I would a thousand time rather he would go. If only some of the womer ahowed a little more spirit I am sure there would be no need for a contest.

Mis. II.

The Rule of Common Sense.

My experience has taught me that the best plan to keep a husband at home is—to let him go ont occasionally without grombling.

Men must mingle with other men, and if they are accorded this privilege cheerfully, and met with a friendly greeting and a kiss on their return therefrom, they will gladly give the wife her share of their company on other evenings.

ONE WHO HAS TRIED IT.

Just Keep On Winning Him.

Always be as cov. pionant and damure as during the honeymoon. Find out what first attracted him to you; cultivate that quality, and let it be prominent when he is present.

Never know toe much. Be not a slave, but humor bim in little things and make him feel satisfied with himself.

Be not moodly or petulant, but cheerful, and above all natural.

Never deceive him, but inspire confidence, and he will find your companiouship more to his taste fran any outside attractions. M. It.

Let the Home Pit the Husband.

Recipe: To keep a husband at home even-

Size up your husband and cut out the home to fit him.

The Other Side of the Shield.

I have been married thirty years, have eight children and fully understand how to keep my husband at home. Please tell me how to get him to take me out. He loves his own home too well. M. E. M.

It Don't Pay to Be Fusey.

your husband feel no restraint.

Be reasonable and don't be exacting. Let

Have your home in charming order when he returns in the evening, but let him enjoy the disorder a man so delights in when it is of his

She Goes With Him.

is for the wife to firmly insist on going out with him when he goes out nights. A Wire.

Cultivate Mutual Confidence

My plan to keep a husband home evenings is to be loving and affectionate and have home bright and cheerful. Mutual confidence is absolutely necessary.

After supper suggest a game of cribbage or chess. Should any differences ever arise always submit to his better judgment.

Having followed this recipe for these last four-teen years I can recommend it highly.

Happy Wiff.

What Sano Husband Could Resist?

Always be at home on your husband's arrival.

Flatter and Humer Him.

Men, as a rule, are conceited and like to be flattered, and humored, and I have found by

A Recipe in Rhyme,

keep him at home, be your own sweet self-

Those Charming Antitheses.

To keep a husband home evenings, please his eye, satisfy his stomach, share his interests, anticipate his desires, and give him his own way in the small thongs of pipe and ale.

Meet his growis with smiles, his tears with caresses, and remember that a kind word spoken at all times is more potent than Circe's charm, LITERIS.

Always Keep Blm Busy.

My idea of how to keep a husband at home is rest always to have plenty of work around the house for him to do, such as fixing chairs, &c.,

Is a complaint which affects nearly everybody, more or ;

Hood's Sarsapari is has helped me more for catarrh

Hood's

in the ears, are the more common symptoms. Catarra do but little good. The common-sence method of is cured by Hood's Sarsavarills, which strikes directly at treatment is to purify the blood, and for this pur-

ts cause by removing all imporities from the blood and | pose there is no preparation superior to Hood's haras-

In the Editor

To the Editor.

mgs ?

To the Edito

Do the Editor :

solutely necessary.

To the Editor

To the Editor !

Published by the Press Publishing Company.

SATURDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 9.

(Including Postage):) PER MONTH.....

SUBSCRIPTIONS TO THE EVENING WORLD

VOL. 30.....NO, 10,308

Entered at the Post-Office at New York as second class matter.

WORLD UPTOWN OFFICE-1267 BROADWAY, between 31st and 32d ats., New York.

BROOKLYN-359 FULTOS ST. HARLEM—News
Department, 150 East 125TH ST.; Advertisements at 257 East 115TH ST. PHILADELPHIA, PA.-LEDGER BUILDING, 112 SOUTH GTR ST. WASHINGTON-610 14TH ST. LONDON OFFICE-32 COCKSPUR ST., TRAFALGAR

CDERY Office of the Mutbal is Authorized to Accept "Want" Advertisements for

THE WORLD.

EVERY MUTUAL DISTRICT CALL BOX CAN BE USED FOR THIS PURPOSE AND NO CHARGE WILL BE MADE FOR MESSENGER

SERVICE All Messenger Boys of the Mutual District Co. are Provided with Ra. Dards and Will Take WOELD AD:

Offices Mutual District Messenger Co. | Broadway | 202 5th ava | 10 Wall st | 45 Broadway | 307 5th ava | 45 Broadway | 313 5th ava | 45 Broadway | 313 5th ava | 45 Broadway | 313 5th ava | 45 Broadway | 38 fth ava | 38 Broadway | 38 fth ava | 38 Broadway | 38 Madison | 38 Marison | 38 Madison | 38 Mad

CYCLES OF CRIME.

Cycles of crime are queer things. How they come about is among the things that nobody knows, but their passage and recurrence is traced as easily as you trace upon your watch-dial the flight of hours. The newspaper columns register the pulse-beats of human passion and depravity, and their periodicity is perfect almost as the rise and fall of the tides.

Why, simultaneously, upon a certain day, should the heart be shaded and hope of human betterment set at a standstill by the news of butcheries and burnings and robberies the country over. Read the papers of this morning : A mangled corpse found buried in a barrel in St. Paul, two Kentuckians carving and pistolling each other to death in a public building of Lexington, a husband, a wife and the wife's traducer killed in a West Virginia court-house, a paramour knifed to death in a New York tenement, two men shot in a Maryland village restaurant, a post-office burned and mails destroyed, a man's throat out in a Rensselaer County almshouse, and so on, and so on. The day's calendar of crime fills columns. Then think of the sin that is done and kept secret.

There are those astrological folk who look into the zodiac, or the realm of natural electric disturbances, to find the impulse for the madness which at intervals seizes upon a world of men and women. There is better warrant, though, to utter over it that line of Mr. SHAKESPEARE :

"The fault, dear Brutus, is not in our stars, But in ourselves."

BEER FOR " THE BOYS."

Anything to catch the soldier vote. The War Department is in a hurry now to get its beer to thirsty regulars. Orders have been issued to Capt. EBSTEIN, of the Twenty. second Infantry, to visit post after post and demonstrate to the officers concerned, the virtues of the system. So far, the matter meets with stubborn opposition, but the Administration will send forth evangelists of beer and the heralds of hard stuff to every barrack in the country sooner than lose credit for this soldier-pleasing reform by letting it lag along into some other fellow's

JOHN WANAMAKER, they may you are getting to be the real boss of this Administration, as you and Quar and Duplier were the creators of it. Has your Administration creed a beer article in it, or is it just like your Sunday-school Superintendent creed? What do you think of this beer-peddling scheme for a Presbyterian Administration? Do you approve of a Government beer

Answer before it goes on to BENNY HARRI-

IT WAS SURE TO COME.

Deeper and deeper in the soup sinks the thin and vicious and bewhiskered person of poor old BILL MAHONE. The majority against him in the State he tried to sell to English bondholders gets bigger at every counting. Even the Tribune calls it 42,715 now.

"Leaves have their time to fade," "Every ctog has his day," "It's a long lane that has no turning," and the politician who tramples rough-shod in his monster selfishness over every dictate of honor and decency, over the solf-respect and the liberties of the people, may stake all he has that retribution is waiting for him, that sooner or later the strong. patient, long-suffering people will get up and stamp him out of recognition.

BILL MAHONE has met his punishment, Others have the joy of anticipation.

NOW WE WANT IT. Now you can come up with your dollars and tens and hundreds and thousands of dollars for the World's Fair Guarantee Fund. The last and in fact the only barrier that szisted was removed yesterday, by the Site

Committee. Central Park is absolutely to be left alone, In making the provision the Committee yielded, though all too tardily, to popular judgment. The people of New York, as between having the World's Fair and having Central Park intact and beautiful as years of care and expenditure have made it, preferred the Park. There was no mistaking the utter-since, and the spoilers had to give way. Haif the $5.00,000 guarantee is subsombed. Those who have held aloof on account of the Central Park spectre, will conribute the other half in a hurry. Open your pocketbooks.

The Globe Refinery, last and most persistent rival of the Standard Oil monopoly, has at last yielded itself to the maw of the octopus.

Let's see. Is there any law against monopolies, or has this monster outgrown all law Five hundred Prohibitionists banqueted in Chicago. Think of the pocket-flasks! SPOTLETS.

According to a dealer, the Bostonese consume an mmense quantity of snuff. Is the culture of the Hub put up only to be succeed at?

"Oh, what is that belt for j" the maiden inquired Of her lover, who sat by her side. "Why that is a life-buoy, in danger required," The happy young fellow replied. "I think I'm in danger," the maiden went on, "And I need a life-buoy very badly; I guess I must have one ere the year is gone." Baid her lover: "Fill be that boy giadly."

The Jersey cranberry crop is short. What will the Thanksgiving turkey do now, poor thing?

Augustus Stickley, of Ottawa, eloyed with his pretty young cook. His heart couldn't resist her telicate attentions to his stomach.

Two song birds are taking a late Fall flight southward. They are an Ontario church tenor and alto

A old fish story in a new dress comes from Ham mondsport. In the stomach of a glass-eyed pike. says this tale, has been found the locket worn by pet kitten drowned in Lake Keuka months ago.

New York holds out both hands to grasp
The great Columbus Fair.
But if Chicago's foot upon it gets.
They'll surely hold it there.

Hunsey's Weekly.

A nephew of the late Banker Drexel, in disgree with the family, has enlisted in the regular army. He may be a good nephew to Uncle Sam.

"Expuse me," said a tramp as he was led to the wood-shed, "but I am not experienced in running a chop-house."—Rearney (Neb.) Enterprise. Russia has adopted amokeless powder. The Can-wants to keep his soldiers in sight while they shoot.

POLITICAL ECHOES.

Alderman James A. Cowie, of the Thirteenth As sembly District, is the lessee of the Grand Opera-House Hall, which he sublets to the Republican County Committee. Republicans defeated Cowie last Tuesday, and it is reported that he has notified the County Committee to pay him several hundred dollars arrears of rent or quit his ball for other quar-

Alderman-elect Bernard Curry, of the Fourteenth Assembly District, doesn't like it because he failed in getting a big majority in that stronghold of Tam-many Hall. He contents himself, however, with the knowledge that he defeated a very strong man in

Charles J. Smith, the fusion candidate. The next investigation which promises an interesting examination of witnesses before the Commissioners of Accounts is that of the Park Department, which is at present being conducted by the Commissioners' xpert seconntants. The State Board of Equalization of Taxes, the members of which well know that there is hardly a bit of farm property in the State which is assessed for more than one-third of its actual value, has equalized" by increasing the assessed valuati heavily burdened New York City realty $119,425,-

FASHIONS.

Candles are small, they are not lighted until the meal is half served. White wax is considered choice. Every lady has some sweet face to memory dear, to hold which there are easel frames two and three inches in diameter encircled with garnets, amethysi and limestone. An equally pretty, but less portable, ssign is a fancy in silver and glass held in the hand or resting on the head of a gnome. Over the glass presting on the head of a ghome. Over the glass sprays of bleeding heart and forget-me-nots trail, naif revealing through the delicate tracery of leaf and flower the features of the face lost to sight,

At the finner given by Mrs. Kendal last week the table decorations were in flat relief, consisting of ferns, berries, violets and stemiess chrysanthemums. Great branches of Autumn leaves were planted on the carpet, so that the patches of color were just visible above the edge of the table. At a dog's christening given by Mrs. Mande Clarke recently all the witnesses of the ceremony were fa-wored, the ladies with Mikado bair ornaments of fan pattern and the gentlemen with scarf pins consisting of natural bugs, beetles and articulates.

system in operation and furnish their wedding rings in company. That jewel, like t e beneless corset and the tea gown, is reserved for e bosom of the family.

ATHLETES IN REPOSE

O. S. Campbell, the noted lawn-tennis player, is slim and boyish-looking. He is a student of Colbia College. He keeps in practice during the Winter, being a member of an "indoor" club. Harry Rivers is numbered among the expert boxers of the Union Athletic Club. He "'peeis" very well indeed and is a triffe harder than the proverbial pine

James E. Hughes is a wrestler from Wrestlerville. He is training for the A. A. U. competitions. He will enter the 135-pound contest. He flaunts the colors of the Pastime Athletic Club. Fred H. Babcock, of the Scottish-Americans, is one of the leading spirits of the Club and among the best-posted amateurs of this country on athletics. Charles J. Leach is numbered among the athleticed members of the Twelfth Regiment Besides being a good all-around athlete he does goo work for his regiment as Secretary of its athletic as-

WORLDLINGS.

Fx-Gov. Ogleaby, of Illinois, is said to have killed more prairie chickens this season than any other sportaman in the State. He is as expert with the shotgun as he is with the violin.

One of the leading hymn writers of the country is Fannis J. Crosby, of New York, who has been blind from her birth. Her best known work is "Sweet Hour of Prayer."

Judge Kelley, of Pennsylvania, sometimes styled the "Father of the House," has been in Congress for thirty years. Mr. Randall has a record of twentyeight years of consecutive service in the House. Mrs. Clarkson's entertainments promise to be a feature of Washington society this Winter. She expects to have her house filled with guests and will be lavish of her hospitality.

STOLEN RHYMES.

A Japanese Version. Tishmay hata litti lam, Hisfiisa whita sno, Antefii wherzat Tishmay cent Zeiam heshu tiggo. Hifflo dher tuschul onda. Ittmad sechildreng lafa pla Tushee zelama schul, Antso retetcher turnim oet, Fintstil hel invar nec. Aniwaty pagen thy heut Til Tishmay dids pear.

Who makel am lof Tishmay soe, Zegar childrenz kry; Cos Tishmay lofa lamyno, Zetetcher didre pli.

The New Jersey Fox Hunter, Now turns he in his saddle, And waves a last good by: And the sallant hunter's lair young wife Can a arce restrain a sigh. "Tis not the danger of the chase I fear for him," she cried: 'His borse is strong and sure of foot, And he is skilled to ride.

And no lessified to rine:

"But, oh-and when I think of it
lify heart is in my throat—
I feet that some bad, wicked boy will stone his bright red coat."

— Lunsey's Weekly.

Wives' Pardonable Artifices to Secure Their Husband's Society.

High Ideals of Conjugal Fidelity and Domestic Comfort.

"Evening World" Readers Who Keep Their Husbands Home Nights.

Increasing Interest in the Contest for the Golden Double Eagle.

Conditions of the Contest. A Gold Double Eagle, "Evening World" prize for the test recipe for keeping a husband at home

Competitors must address their recipes to "The Editor," giving their name and address, not for publication where not desired. The recipe must not be more than 200 words long, and must be written on one side of the paper only.

A Jersey Matron's Metrical Plan.

Editor:
Select a man with balanced mind,
Affection rure, heart true and kind.
His business plans eke let alone,
And be will so respect your own.
Bow at the altar from above,
bow he besing that will perfect love;
Oppose him not, but let him do
Whate'er he likes. He will stay with you,
No matter though his business be
To marigate a sile at sea.
Let lines that reach him while apart
Proclaim the language of your heart,
Though twenty seven years have fled fince I to one most dear was wed,
He loves at home with us to stay;
To keep him, this has been my way.
H. H. HANDOLPH, Barnegat, N. J.

Reformed When He Was Converted.

I have been married five years and have but seldom enjoyed the pleasure of having my husband at home. But to my delight he has recently changed, and now seeks my company and that of his children in preference to the Club or other annusements—all through being con-verted by the grace of God a few weeks ago. I advise every wife to try my recipe. Pray with faith, believing that your prayer may be answered to this effect. Mrs. P. B. H.

He Sweet-Tempered Always.

If a woman wishes to have as much of her husband's company as possible, she should always be perfectly straightforward, sweettempered and just towards him, as she would have him be to her. She should take a deep in-have him be to her. She should take a desp interest in all that concerns him, striving to understand his business affairs, taking care never to be unduly currous.

She should try always to dress as well and as economically as possible, keep her children neat and well-behaved, and teach them to unreserveally love and respect their father. Her little troubles and wrong-doings should always be confided to him. She should have complete trust in him. Thus, a mutual understanding would be established, and every true man would feel that in leaving her to spend her evenings alone he is losing as much true pleasure as she is in his absence.

E. D. S.

Coaxing Better Than Driving.

You can coax a man, but you cannot drive him. Let him go out a reasonable amount of evenings. He must mingle in the society of men a little. I was a wife five years, and this plan never failed. A Widow.

Again the Two Bears.

My recipe for keeping a husband home evenings is " Hear and Forbear." I've tried it suc-Mrs. J. H. B., Perth Amboy, N. J.

Considerateness Wins Them.

To the Editor :

I find no trouble at all in keeping my husband at home by simply being kind and considerate. I make no slave of myself by bringing his slippers and coaxing him with wine and cigars. I treat him as he does me, with respect and conideration.
If husbands were treated with less nonsense

To keep a busband home at night, thave everything look neat and bright; Be happy, merry, cheerful and eay, And he will willingly with you stay. And when his long day's set is o'er Moet him with kisses at the loor; Have the dinner dainty and neat, So he will be inclined to eat, And have the armchair coay, too, Where he can sit and talk to you, And tell you of his troubles and cares, And all about his finance is affairs. Give him all the attention you cân, And all about his finance is affairs. and more common sense, wives would not have such trials to keep their husbands at home. Equality. Depends on the Kind of Husband. Recipe-Take a good Christian man, one that has been brought up to think there is some on Don't Nauscate Him with Sweetness. in the world besides himself to be cared for. Then let the wife do her part; keep the house Enter the matrimonial "swim" properly equipped. That is, be sure you dearly love and herself clean and tidy, have meals always on time and well cooked.

Season all with love and confidence. Do all this and there will be no trouble keeping the husband at home, but as in making a good case, you must have good material to work with.

O. N. K., Norwalk, Conn. sentiment and fully reciprocates it. Then, to Applies to All "Pathles." Carefully diagnose the case, with as few questions as possible, displaying no anxiety what-First, endeavor to locate the trouble, whether n heart, bread or stomach. It is certain to be n heart, bread of svoluters one of these.

Select from your own materia medica your remedy. Avoid irritants, hot applications, wet biankets and cold donehes.

You may be forced to select a remedy unpalatable to the patient, but you can administer it in an emulsion of tact, and soon attain a hormal pulse and temperature, with no danger of relapse.

A. L. G.

Keep Him Ever Busy.

Make home as pleasant and comfortable as possible. When you see he is restless give him ome odd jobs to do, such as putting up pulley lines, carrying up coal and wood for morning mending broken toys for the children, &c. I him understand that it is as much his home yours, and ach him to take you ontours in while, but by no means make a barroom out your own dear home.

One Who Knows.

Knows What Keeps His Papa Home. To the Editor. My sweet little boy said, when reading THE EVENING WORLD:

" Mamma, why don't you tell THE WORLD how you keep papa at home. I know he never leaves us, even for an hour, when he does not tell you how sad he is to go." I replied, "how do I "Well, my dear boy," I replied, "how do I hold him?"
"I don't know, mamma, but 'tis just you.
I feel what it is, but I cannot tell you. When I come home from school I always ask: 'Is mamma home?' If Bessie says' Yes,' 'tis all happy and bright; but if she says' No,' the house seems dark and lonely before the hall door is cosed."

Sweet tribute to a happy wife and mother! Experience Has Taught This Wife.

To keep a husband at home nights you would be compelled to let him have his own way, which often makes it very unpleasant for his better haif. Also let him in every way onlow himself.
Try to explain to him the duties of a lineband and the opinion of the neighbors is all roblishness, because if he is intent on going out he cannot be forced to remain home. I being married nine years have had this experience.

Christiania. and impure blood than suything else I ever used."...A. catarrh by Hood's Saraaparilla two years ago. "...WM. BALL, Syracuse. N. Y.

Yes, He Stays at Home.

I have been reading the recipes ever since the contest began, and let me say right here that, as a free-born American woman, I blush for some of them.
I have been married six years, and my hus-band has never been out evenlogs unions I war

100 DOSES ONE DULLAR

giving healthy tone to the whole system.

disorder a man so delights in when it is of his own making.

Don't be fussy. Don't notice the cigar ashes that fall outside of the receiver. Don't pick up and neatly fold the papers he throws on the floor about his chair.

After he has had a romp with the children put them to bed while all hands are in good humor. Encourage evening visits from his friends. Do give him the privilege of spending an evening out occasionally, and let his parting look fall on a face full of love and happiness, the memory of which he will carry with him.

Then return to your fireside and thank God for the greatest blessings he vouchsafes to woman—a loving husband, dear children and a blessed home.

FELICE. The best way to keep a husband home nights compliment they pay.

Welcome him with kind words and pleasant smiles. Have your little ones nice and clean, a nice has super and cheerful fire. After supper suggest a visit to some friends or a game of cards. At 9 r. m. have a nice lunch, and no matter when and where "Hubby" wants to take you always be ready to go. Mrs. J. H. S. Every girl should be versed in the required and capable of sustained presence of mind. experience that you can do more with them by being kind than by finding fault and grumbling.
They have enough of that all day, It is our duty as wives to help them forget all their worldly cares when they come home. M. R.

ask; and a question can of course be answered or not, as one chooses.

By the way, the triumph of coquetry is to hear "I love you" said and avoid a reply. But I am telling my correspondent about flirting, not coquetry. The comfort and safety of a firtation lies in letting each say firmly its own story. Begin all over again every time you ilton, who, on the day of her marriage to the meet, else that inexorable law of progression which governs the emotions will soon rush you famous pearls of the Hamilton family, has au of pretense into seriouspess, out of comedy into complication, out of firtation into intrigue, heartbreak or matrimony. Keep that law of progression in mind. Never be surprised into taking things in carnest. Men like to talk your husband and that he is worthy of the cause he says he is going to. Because Dick says he is thinking of you with keep him at home, be your own sweet selfnothing more or less.

Carefully avoid the error of self-obliteration.
The woman who thinks that the surestroad to her husband's affections and attentions lies through a remodelling of herself for all-round responsiveness to his changing moods and caprices takes the most direct way of sweetening the joys of domestic life to the nauseating point.

Take this in brief as your recipe. In the marital intercourse be alike true to your love and yourself. Do all that a great affection prompts for the comfort and welfare of its recipient, but minister in all honesty always.

RICHARD'S MOTHER. dangerous frequency, you need not get scared. He likes to put it that way. You must have too much tact to embarrass him by taking him in earnest. Because moonlight and the music affeat from the ballroom inclines Mr. Montmorancy to sentiment, you need not horrify him by fluttering into blushing embarrassment, or put a vision of breach-of-promise action before him by expecting him, at his call the next day, to renew the moonlight melody. Ofconree I don't mean you are to laugh. Dear, no. Always be gentle and sympathetic Because a man with fine eyes likes to let them soften and melt as he looks at a girl is no reason why she should think he is going to propose, or fall in love with him, or think he wishes her to, It is quite right that girls should be treated with much deference; that flowers should be given them, pretty things said to them, attention paid them. It is the homage the other sex delights to pay them. Let it be taken gently, graciously, simply as homage, and so valued. I know there are men who do not find themselves sufficiently amused unless they fancy they are making a genuine "impression" on the girl to whom they after he is through with his supper and has a devote themselves. Well, well! it is a harmless enough vanity. Let them fancy so as far your and he would not think of going outdoors after he came home except on business. Always keep him busy. U. MacA. judgment permits, and as safely as your tact can accomplish. The idea is simply not to let the genuine impression be really made, and not for the Fair Ones.

Revealed at Last.

Fads and Fancies of Some of New York's Well-Known Women,

NEW YORK, Nov. 9. The mail has brought to me a letter from a girl who asks for advice as to how to flirt. Now, if : were writing for a macazine I should re-"Take Punch's direction, and 'don't." But a newspaper doesn't care to have matter so ancient and meaningless as the magazines take, and so I will try to instruct the fair reader of. The Evening World. Of course, none of us men. We must all find that out scorer or later. Life is pretty serious, especially for the boys. must amuse themselves. Girls must learn to let men say pretty things to them, and do pretty things for them, without either losing their own hearts or heads or making the mistake of holding the men to strictly responsible for what they say or do. Because a man finds a girl attractive, likes to be with her, enjoys doing the gallant thing for her, it need not mean that he has an idea of marrying her or of breaking her heart.

The management of such pretty complications as our rather free society brings about in rela-tions between men and women is worth thought. Friendship is too exacting. Grave attachments are to be avoided. But there is a big middle ground of sociability, congeniality, airy sympathy and gallantry that is worth cultivating, and which should be safe as well as legitimately amusing. In other words, fencing is a pretty pastime. Buttons on the swords, you know. There may be all the graceful movements, quick passes, swish of binde and flu-h of steel, and yet the swords are tipped, and it is quite harmless. Fencing with points bare is another matter. I don't pretend to advise those who do it beyond suggesting bandages and a doctor, or perhaps I had better say bans and a divine, ready at hand. Girls are too inclined to place something of a matrimonial value upon "attention." They are too pron to look upon every man as a possible lover and husband. Dear me! That is the most foolish thing in the world! One cannot, and one does not, want to marry every man who makes himself agreeable. Men ought not to feel them selves required to back up with a proposal every Better regard every man as merely so good a partner in passing time as he is clever enough to make himself. If he is to be more the fact will develop naturally. You need not seek it. Don't take things too ously. Firting at best and worst is pretense. At best it is pre tense, recognized as such by both parties. Judgment, tact and constant presence of mind are necessary to keep to mere pretense-to keep the buttons from getting knocked off the swords' tips. That's what gives zest I suppose to the tact, equipped with the judgment necessary, course, granted that mutual amusement is all that is sought, each desires to avoid deceiving the other into belief in sincerity. If you encourage your friend to get in carnest you will have cause to blame yourself. Hence the necessity for constant presence of mind. Remember a woman need never say anything. She hears. It is the province of the stronger sex to desperately, but they don't usually want to be believed. It is expecting too much of Alfred to wish him to go and really shoot himself be-

Dangerons tandencies characterize that very comm

100 DUBES ONE DOLLAR

Sarsaparilla

with him, and I consider myself no better than most wives. I have only made him understand clark I am his equal and not his slave, and rather than hold, a man, no matter how much I to let the man get too interested trying to make

SUBCEPTIBLE MEN.

Men are awfully susceptible. They can afford to be. Falling in and out of love means less to them than it does to us. You really need not worry about them. First attend to your-eif. Some Sage Advice About Flirtation As long as you have not far ned the spark of sincerity that ignites their fancy you can without worry depend upon its coing harmlessly out. Just take care of your own fancy, that's all. Don't think you must belp h m to "get over it." He will do it very nicely all by himself-just The Real Triumph of Coquetry give tim a chance to recover and a loophole to believe you never not coll his allp. It hurts a mun's dignity to know that you realize he not only made a foot of timself, but would have made a bigger one had he been allowed to Don't rub that in. Let him fancy you thought him pretending all the time. Fo the wee affair will blow over without a whir of askes and the man will always have a sneaking regard for you as a good tellow. Never be a goose and talk friendship to a man who even fancies himself it love with you. It simply makes you seem vastly irritating in a calmly apperior way, as dincine the man to rage and recklessners. Put yourself in his place and you will prompt y see why.

TWO GOOD RULES.

Here are two good rules: Never lead a man on and always leave him free to withdraw. Two more: Don't get reased wien he comes on o him-elf and don't get angry when he withdraws. flirt. But it won't do to be too incere with Two more: Don't let him think you don't know that he is coming on and don't let him think you notice when he withdraws. One big one for a ways: Use your head and not your heart. Save your heart for the time that will not be a firtation.

MRS. JESSE GRANT'S CANDLESTICKS.

Only several weeks ago I wrote of the time and oney spent by some well-known ladies in making collections of certain toilets or household things. Mrs. Jesse Grant has just brought to her home a dozen candlesticks. She had plenty already. The lady is candlestick struck: she has been filling her cabinets ever since she married, and her husband rarely returns from journey without bringing her another one. All nations, art schools, potteries and kilns are represented in the modern, while her sutiques are quite like a mu-cum col'ection in number, rarity and value. A peep at her chinas is like a glimpse of the certain Broadway house where Dresden figures, French studies and floral effects in porcelain rival Nature in her gayes A virtuos would forget his contentment looking at the dragons, vestal virgins, harlequins, reptiles, sea monsters, dolphins warriors, fishmongers and fabled deities modelled in bronze, wrought iron, brass, silver and ormolu. The quaint bits of color and the lovely forms of laid work and under-glazing would make a suppliant of an independen artist. Aside from their artistic value, many of the candle-ticks are priceless as souvenirs, coming as they did from immortals, living and

A SLAVE TO HANDKERCHIEPS.

Mrs. Wilber F. Sterey, until recently the owner of the Chicago Times, and who is as much at home in the Windsor Hotel as she is in her Michigan avenue house in the Lake City, is a slave to her handkerchiefs. When her hus band was alive he used to have them made to order, not by the dozen but by the hundred Most men will admit that pretty underwear is the most witching part of a woman's trousseau, but Mr. Storey put the handkerchief at the head of everything and paid the bills gleefully. There was one French firm that used to fill his order and the delicate squares were sent home in an oaken box big enough to hide a family of children in. One specialty of this house was bobbinette handserchief made with a two-inch ruffle of the same web, and finished with bands and bows of ribbon. Usually it required fifteen a day to supply the lady, and she kept a maid who did nothing but wash them, pull them dry and baste in the ribbons. There were mulls and sheer linens, batiste and fine lawns lavishly trimmed and stitched flat, and point lace in a hundred different varieties, but the gem was and still is the bobbinette. No thing like it was ever handled by many women. As a supplement Mrs. Storey wears oftar of roses that costs $60 an ounce, one drop of which is a veritable benediction to the senses. Mrs. William Livingston has a weakness for window draperies of applique lace, with her monogram picked out of the delicate wib in batiste lines. Mrs. Major-Gen. Schuyler Hamnate love for the jewels, which she is more fond of playing with than wearing.

ACTRESSES' FADS.

The actresses go into fads for advertising purposes, just as they sign literary contributions which most of them are is capable of writ ing. Lillian Justell is an adept, and yet I can hardly leave her out of this letter, for she has a really remarkable collection of silver-bound toilet articles. Fhe is mad on the subject of brushes, and I really believe there are three dozen alone in her outfit. She has nail brushes, jewel brushes, brow brushes, hair brushes and manicure brushes, all woven with imported bristles and backed with silver-sterling, every inch of it-and superbly carved or hammered. These things are spread over her dressing and toilet tables, backs up, and if you didn't see the French bed with its silken canopy and hangings in her chamber, the polished wardrobes of her dressing-room and the porcelain tub and swinging health-lift of her bathroom, you might fancy yourself in the shop of a dealer in exclusive novelties. These brushes, with the hand-mirrors, jewel and powder boxes, are distributed over the tables of three rooms, and against the white drapery they suggest a mosale of pearl and silver. To the sight they are admirable; to the chambermaid who has to shine em up every Monday morning they are appall-CLARA BELLE. [COPYRIGHT, 1889.]

CURRENT LOW RATES FOR WIT.

Low Prices for Jokes the Rule Among the Comic Weeklies.

The price of wisdom is said to be above rubies, but the price of wit is said to be somewhat lower, says the Pittsburg Post. Life pays $1.50 per joke, while Munsey's Weekly pays $1. Puck : rom 75 cents down to Reckly pays $1. Puck rom 75 cents down to 25 cents, time 50 cents, and Judge about the same as Puck. These are the prices for short dialogues and paragraphs.

Clever, light verse, of which there is a dearth, fetches a better price. All the comic weekles are flooded with matter, most of it atrociously sund. One professional humoris has with Life at this moment $0 worth of jokes accepted and enpublished. This man turns out such things by the hundred, basementally classified and recorded them, and submits them to joke buyers by them, and submit- trem to joke buyers by less. It originates in a cold, or succession of colds, combined with impure blood. Disagrecable flow from the ness, tickling in the threat, offensive breath, pain over and between the eyes, ringing and bursting noises.

Professional jokers rarely do the best work but they can be counted on, an a steady supply is more to be desired than occasional The efficers and illustrators of come as pers are a solemn, even a mean holy ribe, dames S. Metcaife, who succeeded Frank White as the editor of Life, might easily be taken for a divinity student, and graunt, grizzie. Charles J. Taylor, of Puck, looks like a rural deacon. An Eng ging Giel

i From Facey Folks. j
Angelina (to her intended)...Only fancy, Neddy ! rich Bir George has just asked me to marry him.

Edwin-Confound his impudence: And what misery.

I told him I was sorry to say I was en-

A WONDERFUL PLANT.

Plant Almost Worshipped for Ita Marvellons Powers.

When, some years since, a small band of eccentific traveliers penetrated into the heart of a distant tepical country they found a next wonderful medicinal plant, the remarkable virtues and powers of which had been knows and utilized there for generations.

The most marvelious stories are told of the effects of this plant upon the nervous system and physical strength. It is an absolutely certain cure for physical and nervous eshaustion and prostration, and such are its streng bening and invigorating effects upon the human system that its use is almost universal among these people to keep the physical and nerse powers up to a high standard of perfection.

This marvellous plant enters into the preparation as me of the ingredients of the wonderful remedy, Dr. Breene's Nervers, the great nerve and brain invigorant and strength restorer. No other remedy ever possessed so tru y wonderful powers for restoring strength, vigor and vitality to the nerves and system as this wor discovery which has saved thousands upon thousands from paralysis, insanity, nervous prostration, physical exhaustion, or death, it is, beyond all question, the greatest health restorer in existence. For nerrousness and hysical exhaustion, nervous debility, nervous prostration, and pleasures, wrakens, despondency, mental de-pression, and kindred nervice diseases the agracanted core. In those cases where there is a weak, tired, eslanguid feeling, with no life nor vitality to the nervous or physical system, where one wakes tred and unre-freshed, with dull head, and there is no power of endurance, every movement or exertion mental or physical, being exhausting, it is an absolutely certain resource of errous strength and vitality, and perfect phistal tigor. It will cure parairsis, meanity, epileptic fits, neuralgia, palphation of the heart, nervous or sick head-ache, dyspepaia, indignation, general debility, constipation, billiousness, poor blood, kidney and liver com-plaints, and all diseases of the nurvous system. Dr. Greene's Nersura may be chained at any druggist's at the low price of $1 00 per bottle. Restoration to health is naw, therefore, within the e ch of all by the use of this great life, arrength and health renewer. It is pursy regetable and perfectly harmless.

Dr. Greene, the spe (alist in the cure of nervous and chronic darance, of his West 14th st, New York, can be consulted free of charge, personally or by letter.

HER MODESTY HAMPERED HER.

Chores Girl Becomes a Charwoman Rather than Wear Tights.

I happen to know a young woman who went to work on the charwoman force a few weeks ago, says a Washington letter to the Philadelphia Acue. She is but twenty-five, beautiful, well educated. Last Winter she was in the chorus of an opera company, where her handsome figure, good voice and pretty face were enough to earn a fair salary. But she had one tatal defect, It was modssty. When closhed in the costumes of the chorus, which were contrived, of course, to bring out her shapeliness and womanly charm, she habitually shrunk behind her companions and was afraid to face the glars of the footlights and the scrutiny of the au-disince.

She tried very hard to overcome her repugnance to the wearing of tights, but found t impossible. She was scolded by the stage manager and coaxed by the star and the ladies manager and coaxed by the star and the ladies of the company, but without avail.

She was at last discharged, and on returning to Wash ngton could find nothing honest to do but the work of a charwoman in the Treasury. There she is now, a pisin and lowly figure, whom no ody would recognize as the pretty but modest chorus girl of the Winston Chera Company.

Winston Opera Company.

UNCLE SAM'S YOUNGEST SENATOR. distinguished soldier, was presented with the Milliannire Frank Petiterew, of South Dakota, a Self-Made Mun.

Senator Frank Pettigrew, of South Dakota, says the Chicago Times, is probably the youngest man now in the Senate. He is only forty years of age, and looks even younger, He is as unassuming as he was when twenty years ago he went to Dakota a poor boy.

It has been his good for une to possess not only exceptional abilities but exceptional opportunities. Schafter Pottigrew is worth at least $2,000,000, probably much more. He is easily the most popular man in his party in the new State and has friends wherever he is known. The retention of his friends is due largely to his unpretentions manners, and those who have known him the longest like him the heat.

him the best, exides being a business man. Senator exides being a business man, Senator Pettigrew is a good lawyer and a very force-inl speaker. He will make his mark in the particular. Uncle Renb-Yis, sah, I is. I heered tell dat dey wuz some ob d'ole mastahs a-stoppin' heah, en i fought what I'd look in en see 'I' ole Mare Ogleth'p, ob Gale's plaintation, Georgy, had arrived in town. I ain't sot eyes on him sense

At the Metropolitan Museum. [From Puch.]

Attendant-Are you looking for anything in About Right. From the Somerville Journal 1 Ethel saw a man on a tricycle for the first time the other day. She watched him with much sympathy and interest.

"Poor man!" she said at last.
what are they punishing him for?" His Head Was a Vold.

(From the Pittsburg Chronicle,] "I often feel an aching void," remarked young Fitzrercy to Miss Susie. "I am sorry you are troubled with chronic headache," replied the girl, sympathetically.

Wanted-Decupation.

"Here's a philosopher who says that no thoroughly occupie i person is ever miserable, Bill," observed a tramp to his companion, laying down a newspaper in which he had been carryl g a sapdwich. "Well, he's right, "said the other. "If I could be occupied for a week by a select party of square meals. I think I should forget my misery."

INVANTS treated with Mo . ELL'S TESTRING CORDIAL while teathing are not frestel. Frice Mo cents.